Fleets and Events at Capital
Awakened no Enthusiasm.

SPECIAL BY CABLE TO THE REPUBLIC

Paris, July 22.—(Copyright, 1939.)—The Paris paper, La Patrie, prints the following: "A dispatch from London refers to a rumor which circulates, it would appear, in the first instance, and most governmental circles. The dispatch contains the following: 'The meeting of the English and French fleets will hasten the realization of the prospect of alliance, offensive and defensive, between the two nations, to which their respective governments have been devoting their attention for some time. The meeting of the fleets, it would seem, was decided upon for the purpose of testing the possibility of this alliance.'"
